

Old is best for Dadswells couple

Themed accommodation supplier
Old Dadswell Town has taken out two state awards in the third annual TakeABreak.com.au Best Places to Stay Awards.

Operated by Dadswells Bridge couple Max and Jenny Green, the facility won Victoria's Best Group Holiday Accommodation and Best Unique and Unusual Accommodation awards.

The Greens settled in Dadswells Bridge after travelling around Australia with Max's vision to set up a unique themed accommodation full of nostalgia, history memorabilia and good old Aussie humour.

"We were thrilled to win two awards for the best in the state," Max said.

"Old Dadswell Town is just that – a unique old style Australian town nestled on 280 acres of natural bush on the edge of the Grampians National Park," he said.

"We offer country-style self contained cabins. There are five spacious two bedroom cabins which sleep four, and our one bedroom cabin is ideal for a couple's getaway. All linen is supplied and a continental breakfast is available."

"Our shearing shed style town hall has a great atmosphere for communal get-together's with its large open fire and rustic tables and chairs," he said.

The awards recognise properties that have provided outstanding product and exceptional service in their individual categories.

They are selected from over 13,000 properties listed on the TakeABreak.com.au website, with shortlisted candidates having guest ratings of four stars or better.

National winners will be named in November 2009.
